

Saint Germain of the Violet Flame

Let it Go! Trust the Plan!

Saint Germain via James McConnell - February 26, 2022
Published on Voyages of Light.blogspot.com

I am your Saint Germain. I am here at this time to continue to assist you in doing exactly what you have been talking about, working toward, and that is certainly letting go.

Let go of the old. That is what the Violet Flame is all about: letting go. Purging out all the old programming that is no longer needed, the old memories that hold you to this illusion of separation.

Know that it is all being purged away whenever you use the Violet Flame. Or the other tools that you may have become aware of over the years, whatever they might be. Whether it is Archangel Michael's Flaming Blue Sword of Truth to sever any old ties, or crystals that you are working with bringing back memories of Atlantis and Lemuria to you, whatever it is.

Know that this is all about a letting-go process. Let go of the old. Be established in the new. And look toward the future. Because you are creating it each and every moment right now, whether you are in the illusion or outside of the illusion. You are creating your life as you move forward.

You are creating your own reality. Your reality is not creating you. It is those that believe that reality is creating them that are remaining ensconced within the old illusion within the third-dimensional illusion. And as long as they continue to feel and know that, or believe that, that is where they will remain. There is nothing you can do to bring them out of that until they are ready.

But indeed, when they are ready, they will call upon you, many of them. Many of your family, your friends will remember that, yes, you brought that up to them once before, and here now, maybe you have been right all along!

Now, this is not an ego expression we are talking about here that I am referring to. Not about ego, but about letting go.

Letting go of whatever anybody thinks or feels about their own lives, or even about you—it matters not. Just focus on your own life moving forward. And express to them, or help them, assist them when they call for it, when they ask for it.

And that is your mission at this point. Many of you are in that part of your mission right now, and are recognizing that that is a mission for you.

Now your mission, though, will change as you move along. Mission, Missions will continue to evolve as this entire process of letting go, this entire ascension process continues through this transition that you are already moving through.

Yes indeed you are in the transition right now. The transition from the old life, the old illusionary third-dimensional expression into the new higher expression of the fourth and fifth dimension. You are already doing that. You are already moving through this transition, all that is happening around you, all of the things that are happening within the illusion.

As you have heard many times, think of it as a show, as a movie that is playing out, and you are just witnessing it, observing it. You can be a part of it at times.

Yes, indeed, you are a part of it at times. But most of the time, just be the observer as much as you possibly can. And when you are the observer, you are not part of the third-dimensional expression in those moments. So be the observer, and let the show play on. And know that the end of this show is going to be amazingly exciting to you.

Just be ready for that. Because it is all coming together. As you have heard many times, trust the plan. Trust the plan.

The plan cannot be stopped at this point. And everything that is happening, no matter whether it is seemingly part of the dark or of the light, everything that is happening is part of the plan.

And know that. Know that as you continue moving forward through this transition that you are in right now. Know that everything indeed is happening for a reason as part of the plan, no matter what it is.

And as the plan continues on, so too does the ascension process. So know that also. You are all moving toward the ascension.

As you have heard many times, the dark forces have been doing everything they can to hold you back from ascension, because they knew. As soon as the population began to wake up, they were finished. So they have been doing everything they can to keep you from waking up.

But alas, you are all waking up. And I speak now beyond just the Lightworking Community.

Many, many more are waking up across the planet in countries all over the planet, waking, becoming aware of what has been happening to them. Becoming aware that their freedom has been taken away.

And it cannot be given away unless you give it away. And those ones that are in Canada, the Freedom Truckers, and other countries now, are aware of this. Maybe not on the level that you are, but they are aware that they want to hold onto their freedom. That is the most important thing to them—freedom!

And that cannot be taken away from someone who does not let them take it away.

So know as you continue to move through the rest of this year, that everything indeed is happening exactly as it needs to. Being tweaked here and there, yes, certainly.

Those of the Forces of Light are working hard to overcome all of the plans, the programs that the dark forces have attempted to usher into the population of this planet. Because it is all a part of their plan, their old plan.

But the forces of Light know this plan. They know it, and they are coming against it every opportunity that they have, and know ahead of time what their next move it going to be, and their next move.

As you have heard many times, this is a chess match. But the forces of darkness are working in the 3-D world of chess. Whereas those of the Forces of Light are in 5-D. And many, many steps ahead of those of the forces of darkness.

I am Saint Germain, and I leave you now in peace, and love, and oneness. And know that freedom is indeed at hand for the entire population of this planet.

Peace and love be with all of you.

Nothing is as it seems! Trust. Go Within.

It is the One. As I mentioned the last time we spoke, the eye of the storm surrounds you. It is where you find yourself now.

During a time such as this, amidst the turning and churning of the storm around you, it will be near impossible to discern from the items moving past you – which you'll keep and which you'll let go.

Everything is moving too quickly, and discernment becomes a challenge.

This is due to your engagement with your life, and with "time". The time it takes to decide about the truth or worth of an item just won't be available to you. You are virtually along for the ride now.

Things have come to a head and all central players are fully absorbed in their roles.

This has to play out. Regardless of play-by-play action, always remember this – humanity will benefit in the final analysis.

This is not the final card, yet you are just about there. This move was done to thwart the controllers, make no mistake about that. War is an extreme move and it will force their hand.

It is having many unfortunate effects as well. Yet ultimately, what this move does, is to remove many of their moves from the playing field. In some cases, it stops them completely, and in others, it exposes them. Know that all is not lost, and you are closer now to the final card being played, and their eventual defeat.

Now that this move has been made, the true face of each player is shown. Watch who objects to the move. Watch who responds with the most force.

This will not escalate into global conflict. This will end quickly.

You are not in danger of annihilation or a deeper level of control and capture. It is the opposite. By playing this card, the fight has moved into the very public realm, and you will quickly discern who is on which side:

Humanity's (side) or the controllers/Freedom for the race or capture of the race. It will be crystal clear now so pay attention. Events will occur rapidly and it will appear as if they are unrelated.

Nothing could be further from the truth. This is War, and it has now been moved to the headlines. Everything that is done or sanctioned or mandated or announced is a move in this War Game. The conflict on the ground is one part of it. There are many.

You'll witness unusual and previously unknown people come into the public view. These will be some who've been active behind the scenes for a long time, and who can now be "uncloaked" as it were.

This one act forces many others, not the least of which is the outing of your mainstream media coverage. War has a way of putting the fear of God into people, and you'll see changes and reversals, and even admissions, on the larger networks. This is worldwide.

There are casualties already and there will be more before it's over. Remember that those individuals leaving now, for any reason, have chosen to do so. They have completed their purpose in this physical life, and will offer more assistance from elsewhere. This should help to ease the sadness and pain over what looks to be needless loss.

The conflict in the Ukraine will end quickly. Nothing is as it seems. The active portion of your journey is in full throttle now, so hang on. When things appear dire or doubtful, remember that there are multiple steps and moves. You will know when the final card is played.

Trust. Go within. Emblazon your world with your light. Saturate your field with love. You were born for this part, my dear, dear, humans. Trust. Thank you.

Hello our dear ones, there are so many who have gathered and there are so many messages. We first send you much love, much gratitude. We are here in a place of grace, in a place of suspended excitement, as we watch this beautiful unfoldment that is happening within humanity and upon your Earth.

A New Tide is Flowing

The way that we are showing this to this one [Kate], it is as though you can imagine a traffic jam or a blocked blood vessel that is slowly being unblocked, and the energy is beginning to flow forth again. This is how it is being represented. It is as though the human collective is becoming less stagnated. It is as though the collective is beginning to expand more so. We have seen segments and pockets of the human collective awaken, become more aware, do their inner work, expand their gifts, learn to attune to the beyond.

But it is as though this has and continues to have a ripple effect upon so many. This ripple effect, we will say in many ways, is the driving force behind this flow, this grand opening up that is beginning to permeate through pockets of the human collective that until recently had been unreached or to some had been largely unattainable. In many ways, it is as though the tide is flowing, the tide is growing. It is becoming stronger. And as you sink your feet into the shores of this beautiful ocean, the tide is now rising, and you will meet this tide with a welcoming energy.

Feel what you wish to Manifest

This is a new dawning for humanity. It is one though that we will say do not try to see with your eyes. It is one that you must feel your way through for humans are so attached to what they see and likely what they want to see. And everyone wants to see something slightly different. As such, if you cast your focus upon what you wish to see — and it is very much attached to the physical world, to logistical transactions, to an unfolding in a certain way, in a certain area — perhaps what will manifest will be more of a mixed bag. Once again, we wish to remind you and humanity to gaze your focus on what you emotionally want to experience. And we invite you to think in broad strokes. Is it freedom? Is it joy? Is it love? Is it forgiveness and the ability to forgive?

The flow is opening, and there is much that is opening up energetically. There's a massive expansion. As such, there are many eyes and many hearts that are focused on humanity. This has been the case for long. Many of your brothers and sisters from the stars are standing with you, energetically enhancing your focus upon love and joy. We will also say they are encouraging humanity to move away from the division, the hate, and the anger that so many have felt for years, for decades. And they are helping those humans come to a place of greater compassion, love, and understanding.

For it is understanding each other that will help you move up a notch in this evolutionary ladder, in this beautiful spiritual journey that you have all embarked upon, and that you are, we will say, accelerating along at a beautiful momentum.

All is Unfolding through Light

So there are many here to showcase their support, to invite humanity inwards to focus on what you want to feel. For we will tell you, our dear friends, not all will unravel upon your Earth as many have prophesized. It is not always going to unfold in the order or in the manner in which you are attached to. But you must nonetheless trust that it is unfolding in accordance with light and in accordance with Universal laws and principles. These are the true forces that move you forward. And these are the forces that we invite you to align with. These principles are steeped in love and joy. All you need to do to open the floodgates is to connect with that joy and that love within yourself. And as such, you move yourself forward and you help move humanity forward on a much grander scale.

Many Beings Support You

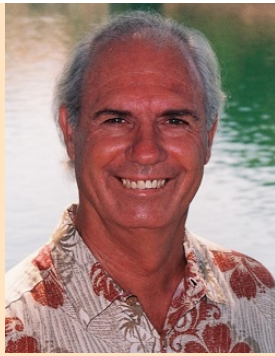

There are many eyes and hearts with you all at all times. There are many more of you who are asking more actively for support and for guidance. Make no mistake, many, many have stepped forward to assist humanity in the ways in which you need this assistance. For many of you it is about healing and releasing your inner wounds.

For it is these wounds that prevent you from seeing the big picture. As you heal and release these wounds, you see into a level of love and compassion for many not seen and experienced before. These Beings, these guides, they're stepping forth to support and assist you. They, in many ways, are the ones who are opening the gateway, the windows for you to feel, experience, and see into this higher level of consciousness. It is your experience that will get you there. It is not what is unfolding upon your Earth. This is just a manifestation of many different, and we will say in some ways, conflicting desires.

You must all unite from a place of love and compassion. It is the force of this unity that will propel you forward, our dear friends. Remember these words. Remember how loved and supported you are. Remember how many are cheering you on. How many are guiding you, are supporting you behind the scenes and on all fronts: spiritual, energetic, and yes, even physical. We are here. We stand with you. The Galactic Federation.
